Biography

Brent Choi is a community pharmacist and pharmacy owner in the Greater Toronto Area. Through his experience across multiple community settings, he has developed a practical, frontline understanding of delivering safe, consistent patient care. Brent believes strong community pharmacy is grounded in reliable dispensing, trusted patient relationships, and supporting pharmacists in their day to day work. He currently serves on the Professional Practice Committee with the Ontario Pharmacists Association. Brent is committed to listening to pharmacists, advocating for the realities of their day to day work, and ensuring their voices are not only heard, but clearly represented.
